

MORE THAN forty years of service to Lionism was ended when Dr. Charles C. Reid, fourth President of the International Association of Lions Clubs, died at a hospital in Denver, Colorado, on September 11. Becoming actively interested in the Lions movement soon after its founding in 1917, Dr. Reid gave invaluable guidance and effort in the pioneering days. He served on the committee which drafted the original Constitution and By-Laws. During his Presidency, 1920-21, the expansion of Lionism into Canada was accelerated. He was born in Marion, Illinois in 1873 and became a recognized authority in osteopathy, founding the world-known Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital in Denver. He was the first President of the Denver Lions Club and remained active in its councils until his final illness. He missed few International Conventions. Dr. Reid is survived by one son, Homer Reid of Imperial, Texas; six grandsons and five great-grandchildren. Lions International was represented at the funeral by Past Int. Pres. D. A. Skeen of Salt Lake City and Past Int. Dir. Claude M. DeVors of Wichita, Kansas.

THEIR SERVICE ENDED

The World of Lionism mourns the passing of two Past Presidents of Lions International. ■ Their illustrious records are enshrined in the archives of the Association; their memory in the hearts of their Lion brothers.

THE RECENT death of George R. Jordan, 25th International President of the Association, at Dallas, Texas was a loss to Lions International and to his community. Senior Vice-President of the Republic National Life Insurance company of Dallas, he was nationally known in the insurance business, but was almost as well known for his work with crippled children. He was director and treasurer of the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children and the Dallas Society for Crippled Children, and a trustee of the Scottish Rite Dormitory for Girls at Austin. A charter member of the Forney, Texas Lions club in 1925, he transferred to Dallas in 1933 and was elected Third Vice-President of Lions International in 1938. He became International President at the New Orleans convention in 1941. A 33rd Degree Mason, George Jordan was active on many boards and committees serving the civic welfare of his city and state. He was a familiar figure at Lions International conventions, where he took an active part in the councils of the Association. He is survived by his widow Lucille and two sons, Edwin Burton and George Royal, Jr.
